

FauxCon Writers Application Form

FauxCon feels an obligation to the paying attendees to ensure that all the writers that are presenting information at FauxCon are of the highest quality. To help accomplish this, we have produced the following application form for prospective writers to fill out.

Gaming History

Please use the following chart to work out how many "writer points" you have accrued up to this point. Writers that wish to be part of FauxCon, but have accrued less than 100 points will be assigned a mentor to ensure that their game is sufficiently written and playtested. In addition, writers with less than 75 points will be assigned a gm-buddy who will sit in their sessions and correct their mistakes. Alternatively, dollars can be used to bring your points up to 100 at a 1:1 exchange rate - this money will be refunded at the end of the convention if your game is of sufficient standard.

Score...	# times	subtotal
+5 points for each convention you have attended. +10 points for each game that you have helped GM. +25 points for each game that you have written and run at a convention. -5 points for each convention you have helped organise. -10 points for each game you wrote with 'cathartic' in the blurb. -10 points for each game that you offered but cancelled. -30 points for each game that you offered but didn't show up. -50 points for each game that you offered, but only two or less teams played Total:

* half positive points if the game/convention was held in Canberra. No points if it was held in Adelaide.
